

Photo Michael Lynch

"It is love that calls us into being, and it is love that calls us home. For God is love, and love is the dance of eternity."

©Bob Holmes #adailygrace

This popped up on my Facebook feed this morning and I just really like the photo, seeing both night and day in one image... interestingly if you look really closely you can also see that some of the 'saplings' are in fact camera tripods... oh well...

Have a good weekend.

And I won't be replacing this post until Tues 11th as I am having some time off next week... maybe to explore the dance of eternity... 😊